

In his fifth year of experience as a regular teacher in the Booker T. Washington High School, a public high school maintained and operated under the direct control, supervision, rules and regulations of the defendants. He successfully completed the course of instruction provided at Virginia State College for Negroes, an accredited college maintained and operated by the State of Virginia for the instruction and preparation of Negroes as teachers in the public